Illinois Supreme Court Justice Visits LTHS

Illinois Supreme Court Justice Thomas L. Kilbride recently visited Lockport Township High School to speak with American Government students about the structure of Illinois government and answer their questions.

Kilbride's discussion focused on judicial matters/procedures in Illinois, but he also addressed matters of the judicial branch and legal system at large. His presentation was part of the justice's Judicial Education Program, in which the justice visits schools to talk to students about the legal system in Illinois.

Kilbride practiced law for 20 years in Rock Island, engaging in the general practice of law, including appeals, environmental law, labor law, employment matters, and other general civil and criminal matters. He was admitted to practice in the United States District Court of Central Illinois and the United States Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals. He was elected to the Supreme Court of Illinois for the Third District in 2000.

Justice Kilbride's visit to LTHS was organized by Social Studies Department teacher Jeff Jaffe and Social Studies Department Chairperson Margo Singletary-Timm.
